LEGISLATURE IS CALLED FOR SEPT. 4

Governor Issues Special Summons at Noon Today

TO CONSIDER NYE BILL

Blue Sky Law Is Important Issue to Come Up

By FRED L. HOLMES

The Wisconsin legislature was summoned in special session Friday by Gov. E. L. Philipp to meet on Thursday, Sept. 4, to consider six matters of legislation. The two most important propositions to be considered are the education of soldiers under a modified S. A. T. C. system as proposed in the Nye bill at the regular session of the legislature and amendments to the blue sky law.

It is planned that the legislature can complete its work in three days at the most, so that all of the members will be able to return to their homes by next Sunday. The meeting will be convened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. All of the bills will be framed in the next few days and will be ready for introduction as soon as the legislature organizes.

Under the Wisconsin constitution only those matters included in the legislative call can be considered at the special session. As set forth in the call, there are as follows:

"1. To consider the enactment of such legislation as will grant the privilege to attend the university, normal schools, high schools, common schools, special schools or any private college located in the state of Wisconsin, to any soldier, sailor, marine or nurse who rendered service during the world war and who was in the service of the army, navy or hospital corps of the United States, on or before the date of the signing of the armistice, and to provide for the payment of such persons of certain sums of money by the state in monthly payments during the period which such students attend such college or school, and to make the necessary appropriations for such payments as to provide by adequate appropriation the necessary staff in the university, normal schools, the public schools and to create any special school or schools required and make the necessary appropriations therefor and to levy a special tax to raise the money necessary to carry out all of the provisions of such a law.

"2. To amend chapter 674, laws of 1919, otherwise known as the Blue Sky law.

"3. To amend chapter 542 of the laws of 1919 relating to a county tax for needy soldiers.

"4. To amend chapter 660 of the laws of 1919 relating to the appropriation for the state superintendent of schools.

"5. To consider legislation authorizing bond issues of municipalities, villages and school districts.

"6. To consider legislation permitting county boards to make appropriations for the collection, publication and distribution of war records."

The amendment which it is proposed to make to the Blue Sky law is to regulate the sale of securities by banks, trust companies and other financial institutions. Under the present law as enacted by the regular session, these financial institu-

Clever Thieves Steal Painting From Bologna

BOLOGNA, Italy.—Fr. Francia's masterpiece, "The Madonna and Child," has been stolen from the Accademia Di Belle Arti, and a colored photograph has been substituted for it. The photograph was pasted in the frame to conceal the theft. This masterpiece dates back to the fifteenth century. The police suspect some visitors at the gallery last Sunday and have their names.

RAPS BAKER AND MILITARY COURT MARTIAL

Calls Recent Investigation of System Unfair and Biased

WASHINGTON.—Fostering of unfair and prejudiced investigations of army court-martial practices through "packed" bodies of inquiry were charged to Secretary Baker and Judge Advocate General Crowder today by Samuel T. Ansell, former acting judge advocate general. Resuming his statement before the senate military sub-committee, Mr. Ansell declared that the inquiries made by the American Bar Ass'n committee Inspector General Chamberlain and the army tribunal headed by Major General Kernan were "biased" and that recommendations in favor of the existing court-martial procedure were a foregone conclusion.

40 THOUSAND AT THE FAIR MADISON DAY

Three Madison Boys Win Prizes With Sheep Exhibits

TRAINS CARRIED CROWDS

Last Day of Dane County's Greatest Fair Today

"If you keep this up, you'll be having the state fair at Madison, where it belongs, instead of at Milwaukee," Starter W. C. Robbins told the record-breaking Madison day crowd that swarmed on every inch of the grandstand, the adjoining bleachers, and both sides of the race track for a hundred yards on each side of the wire to witness the best day's racing at the Dane county fair. An estimate places the Madison day attendance around 40,000, smashing all former marks.

The crowds jammed every nook and cranny of the great big fair park, swarming in and out of the auto and tractor tents, viewing the champion 1,000 pound hog, the monster 2,400 pound champion Holstein, the beautiful horses, the chickens and geese, and ducks, the pretty little white mice, the rabbits, the pleasant displays of the vegetable and culinary departments and the thousand and one beauties in the fine arts building. From A to Z, the 1919 Dane county Victory fair was pronounced a splendid success by all.

Special trains carried the crowds to and from the grounds. Also dotted every spare inch of the parking space, and the street was brought thousands who came in endless stream all day. The big crowd was almost as big as today, the last day of the fair, and the exhibits will be open as usual.

Practically all of the prize-winners have been decided upon by the judges. Among the happy winners are five members of the Boys' and Girls' club, leader W. E. Drips, who divided the National Bank's $100 in cash besides other prizes awarded for the best pens of three lambs raised and exhibited by the boys. Prof. Frank Kleinheinz judged and announced the following winners: James Hogan, Wannakee, first prize; Erwin Schuetz, Madison, second; Robert Hogan, Wannakee, third; Elmer Schuetz, Madison, fourth; Walter Nichols, Madison, fifth.

The poultry demonstration team of the Boys' and Girls' club which will represent Dane county at the state fair gave an exhibition of the treatment of parasites Thursday. The boys are from Belleville high school: Capt. Norman Harper, Marion Ross, Vivian Ross. The district canning championship will be decided today between the champion Dane county team from Mt. Horeb and the Rock county champion team. The winner will go to the state fair.

In cattle, Racine and Walworth took all prizes for Brown Swiss champion. Flora Dufire, owned by H. W. Ayers, Honey Creek, leads the mature class of her breed in milk production, with 16,581 pounds of milk and 649.42 pounds of butter fat, in one year's record.

Merry Merpey, state champion in the five-year-old class, also is owned by Mr. Ayers. Her record is 15,679.5 pounds of milk and 628.18 pounds of butter fat.

The other three champions are from the herd owned by J. P. Allyn of Delavan. Merry of Allynhurst gets the four-year-old record with 14,371.3 pounds of milk, and 578.37 pounds of butter fat. The three-year-old record went to Silverheels of Allynhurst with 13,441.3 pounds of milk, 525.59 pounds of butter fat, the two-year-old record to Gwinilla of Allynhurst, 11,312.22 pounds of milk, 312.2 pounds of butter fat.

TRAIN KILLS ELDON SCHULZ

Crossing Northwestern Tracks Near Anglemore Station When Struck

Attempting to cross railroad tracks at the Anglemore station Eldon Schulz, a 10-year old newsboy was killed by the Chicago and Northwestern southbound passenger train at 6 o'clock last night.

Busy delivering newspapers, one of which he had left at the Anglemore station, he had started across the tracks, when a warning whistle from a freight train approaching along Lake Monona startled him. Becoming somewhat confused he stepped back to allow the train to pass, but when that coming behind him was the outbound passenger train.

The shouts of bystanders, the shrieks of warning from the oncoming train confused the lad, and he jumped squarely in front of the engine. The brakes were applied instantly. The piercing screech of steel against steel was heard over the entire neighborhood. The boy was so near however to the train which was going at a high speed, that it was of no avail. Struck by the engine, the locomotive, tender and first coach passed over the boy.

The 10-year old boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schulz, 630 East Gorham street, a Madison real estate dealer. Active in boy scout affairs, earnest, good-natured, and industrious, the news of his death was a shock to his playmates and friends. He is survived by his parents, a brother, Clarence G., a discharged overseas soldier, and four sisters, two of whom are university students.

The complaint has 23 separate counts against the Cudahy company. The investigations were made by Charles Kramer and Henry Town, deputies of the dairy and food department.

Theodore Schroeder, who graduated from the university about forty years ago, has written 66 pamphlets against the "scientific lust" practiced by the Mormons and a host of articles on free speech, according to a pamphlet of 25 pages which contains the names of the articles. The articles on Mormonism were published in magazines and newspapers all over the country.

Mr. Schroeder, who believes that all religion is founded on sexualism, declares his research method is purely scientific.

Labor Day Committee Will Meet Tonight

A meeting of all the local unions' committees in charge of Madison's Labor day celebration has been called for tonight at Labor hall by the central committee to discuss the part which each is to play in the huge parade next Monday which will form on the square and march around to Vilas park where Attorney General John J. Blaine will deliver the day's address. The line of march, originally announced, has not been changed.

A ball game for the indoor championship of Madison between the Marquette Marines and Skinny's All-Stars at 2:30 will be the feature attraction at Vilas park. Band concerts will continue all day at the park.

WOULD BLOCK WILSON TRIP OVER NATION

Should Stay at Post During H. C. of L. Fight

CLASH OVER TREATY

"Would Tie Young Americans to Cannon's Wheel"

WASHINGTON.—Representative Rodenburg, republican, Illinois, introduced a resolution today proposing that congress declare that "The president should postpone his proposed tour at least until such time as we may know definitely the problems which confront us" growing out of the country's industrial situation and the cost of living problems.

The resolution said the railroad and labor situation generally "indicated the necessity for immediate steps to bring capital and labor together for a better understanding," that congress would soon adopt the president's suggestions to combat the cost of living and "that absence of the president at a time when his signature is required to place in effect measures adopted by congress to reduce the high cost of living would occasion serious delay in solving this vital problem."

The resolution went over without debate. Republicans and Democrats of the house clashed over the league of nations and President Wilson's speaking trip over the country. Representative Murphy, republican, Ohio, attacked the league of nation covenant and expressed the hope that the president would tell the truth regarding it on his forthcoming trip. He said it proposed to tie young Americans "to the cannon's wheel."

Representative S. W. Welty, Ohio, and Blanton, Texas, democrats, replied. They defended the league of nations as an instrument of peace.

The republicans applauded Representative Murphy while the democrats jeered and the proceeding was reversed when the democrats spoke.

CITY PREPARED IN BONUS BILL

Saloons Will Be Closed Tuesday for Referendum Vote

Everything is in readiness for the referendum vote in Madison on next Tuesday, Sept. 2, on the bonus bill for Wisconsin men who have been in service is the announcement from the city hall. Ballot boxes are being distributed today and big signs "Boost the Bonus" are being put up at all polling places.

The polls will be open from six in the morning till eight at night. Women are not allowed to vote. Anyone not registered within the last couple of years will have to supply affidavits sworn to by himself and two property-holding citizens to the inspectors. Saloons are required to be closed on this day.

Faithful Lobbyists Right on the Spot

Secretary of State Meritt Hull and his clerks were very busy today receiving and filing expense statements of lobbyists and their employers. The fact that Aug. 29 is the last day allowed by law for filing such statements probably accounts for the rush. All who registered as legislative counsel or agents are required to file within thirty days after the final adjournment of the legislature, which occurred July 30. Failing to file, the law requires that their names be reported to the district attorney for prosecution. From present indications the lobbyists of Wisconsin do not intend to be caught napping.

Twenty-one Saloons Have Paid Licenses

The total number of liquor licenses paid for by Madison saloonkeepers up to noon today was 21. City Treasurer Carl Moe announced. Fourteen which were granted licenses last Tuesday have not as yet paid for them, and speculation is rife as to whether some of them will not try to sell without a license or will not sell at all the time between now and Jan. 16.

Baseball Fans Must Not Play In City Streets

"Playing baseball in the street must stop, we are going to enforce the city ordinance prohibiting such activities rigidly in the future," said Chief of Police Shaughnessy this morning, after the trial of Bob Chandler, Alvin and Arthur Breitake.

Charged with batting a baseball during a game that struck Mrs. O. A. Winters, inflicting injuries that necessitated the attention of a physician and dentist, a plea of guilty was entered by the three men. With the understanding that all doctor bills would be paid and a pair of glasses broken replaced, the case was continued until September 12.

ASK GUARANTEE OF 6 PER CENT ON RAILROADS

Warfield Claims Petition Has Support of 50 Million People

WASHINGTON.—Principles of the Warfield plan, under which a minimum interest return of six per cent on railroad securities would be guaranteed through a mandatory adjustment of rates, by the interstate commerce commission were endorsed by "Fifty million persons" owning or directly interested in railroad securities, in a memorial to congress submitted to the house interstate commerce committee today by S. Davies Warfield, president of the National Association of Owners of railroad securities.

In presenting the memorial, Mr. Warfield said its signers did not ask "the continuation of autocratic railroad methods of the past but a just and definite solution by the congress of the most important problem now before the country."

RIOTING STOPS AS SCABS LEAVE

Strike-Breakers at Richmond Escorted to Trains by Police

RICHMOND, Ind.—Following departure of strike breakers from the plant of the Mallico casting company, rioting stopped early today.

About sixty strikebreakers were escorted from the plant to the railroad station this morning by the police.

The strike of molders at the plant practically had been settled, according to labor leaders when strikebreakers appeared from Chicago and Cincinnati.

Norgord Proposes Big Appropriation

BOSTON, Mass.—The conference of the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture, which convened here today from Albany, N. Y., devoted its session to further consideration of the menace to crops from the corn borer. Congress is to be asked to appropriate $2,000,000 for suppression of the pest in a resolution proposed by C. P. Norgord of Wisconsin.

Mrs. J. F. Spring Sues for Divorce

KNOX PUTS PLAN BEFORE U. S. SENATE

Would Free Country From All European Disputes

ACCEPT NO TERRITORY

Would Work Towards End of Reducing World Armaments

WASHINGTON.—Declaring that the peace treaty cannot be enforced, but will lay the foundation "for centuries of blood letting," Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, a republican member of the foreign relations committee and former secretary of state, told the senate today that the United States should decline to become a party to the settlement effected at Versailles and should negotiate a separate peace with Germany.

In its "hard and cruel" terms, he asserted, the treaty imposed on Germany penalties which violate international law and engender strife.

"The more I consider this treaty," said Mr. Knox, "the more I am convinced that the only safe way for us to deal with it is to decline to be a party to it at all."

"I think we should renounce in favor of Germany any and all claims for indemnity because of the war and see that she gets credit for what we renounce. We ought to renounce all participation or membership in commissions, committees, boards or otherwise provided for in the treaty in aid of its execution to which by its terms we are parties. We ought not to accept concessions of German territory. We ought to declare a general policy to regard with concern any threat of disturbance of general world peace, but at the same time we should reserve complete liberty of action, either independently or in conjunction with other powers, in taking such steps as we determine wise for preserving the peace."

"We ought then to carry out the spirit of the act of 1916, which authorized the president to convene the nations of the world together to establish a code of international law, reduce armaments, to establish an international tribunal and go as far as possible in the direction of securing peace through justice, through a league to which all the world are parties in its formation."

"This would be a fitting, generous and dignified exit from a situation in which primarily we had no direct concern."

PRICE FIXING ILLEGAL SAYS LA FOLLETTE

Senator Continues Fight Against Monopoly in Land Leasing Bill

WASHINGTON.—Continuing his attacks on the land leasing bill in the senate today Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, said he was opposed to price fixing. He asserted it could not be done constitutionally.

The Wisconsin senator made an attack on the newspapers of the country declaring they were "controlled."

"I made that statement in Philadelphia in 1912 and they damned me for it and for a time they kept me out of their columns," he said. The speaker declared there were not more than four or five publications reaching not more than 200,000 subscribers, which were not controlled by the "Morgan, Standard Oil or Allied interests" and which were free to print criticism of the powers that control the nation's industrial life."

SAYS AMERICA MUST SACRIFICE

Don't Let Blind Optimism Block League of Nations Pleads Cestre

No selfish ambitions or blind optimism should stand in the way of the League of Nations, which makes certain the defeat of militarism and imperialism, declared Dr. Charles Cestre of the University of Paris, last night at Christ Presbyterian church.

America must join with the other nations of the world in sacrificing a certain amount of personal freedom that all nations may be equally free and that peace may be permanently insured, he explained. The Americans as individuals are too prone to be over-confident and optimistic and therefore blind to the dangers that lie before them. A measure such as the League of Nations is necessary to America as a step in self preservation.

The Monroe doctrine is, in effect, outgrown, according to Dr. Cestre, and Europe can no longer live without America, while the past war shows that America cannot keep free from European problems. Dr. Cestre spoke last night under the auspices of the Dane county branch of the League of Enforced Peace.

tions may deal in stocks that are not approved by the securities director of the Wisconsin railroad commission. It is said that some of the banks in the state were threatening to handle some securities that were not approved by the securities director. The legislature will be asked to pass a law bringing all of these financial institutions under the terms of the act.

The last legislature passed a law amending the act giving aid to needy soldiers. This aid formerly went to soldiers of the civil war and Spanish-American war. The amendment was to bring soldiers of the world war under the act. Through an error the provision of the old law providing for the appointment of a soldiers' commission in the counties to administer the act was repealed. It is proposed to restore this feature.

The appropriation of the state superintendent's office was increased at the last session of the legislature from $86,500 to $100,000. Through an error the provision for paying the salary of the state superintendent was repealed. The provision of the call will permit the legislature to restore the salary to State Supt. C. P. Cary.

Several communities of the state have issued bonds without the proper authority of the statute. A validating act will be asked of the special session.

Under an opinion of Attorney General Blaine to the district attorney of Ozaukee county, the county board did not have the power to appropriate money to give each soldier in the county a copy of the war history of the county. The call provides for a new law which will authorize counties to appropriate sums for the payments of war histories for distribution among soldiers.

The legislature will organize with all of the old officers and there is some hope that the session may be completed within two days.

SENATORS ARE BITTER OVER TREATY FIGHT

Senators Fall, Nelson and McCumber Become Angry in Debate

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON — Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, replying in the senate today to an address yesterday by Senator McCumber, criticizing the foreign relations committee for amending Shantung provisions of the peace treaty, said Senators who had not read the treaty and did not know its contents were the most insistent that it be ratified immediately.

Soon after he began speaking Senator Fall was interrupted by Senator Nelson, Minnesota, who asked what he proposed to do with the treaty.

"There is no use attempting to chop this treaty into mincemeat," declared the Minnesota Senator. "If that is the senator's object he will find that mincemeat will be wiped aside by the senate."

Senator Fall said he would not enter into a discussion with Senator Nelson in deference to the latter's age whereupon Senator Nelson rejoined:

"You needn't consider my age, but just consider me the youngest man in the senate. I am neither in my second childhood in this matter nor in the Mexican matter."

Later interruptions of Senator Fall's speech by Senator McCumber led to one of the bitterest exchanges since the treaty debate began. Facing each other at a distance of a few feet, the two senators raised their voices and pounded their desks to emphasize their declarations.

When Senator Fall said that Senator McCumber had defended on the ground of justice the award to Japan of "Goods stolen by Germany from China," Mr. McCumber sprang to his feet and shouted:

"I deny that statement as being absolutely and unqualifiedly false. I have never taken the ground that the act of Germany was fair and moral."

"You did defend the Shantung affair," retorted Senator Fall, "and claimed that Japan had the right to take Shantung."

"And she derived that right under a solemn pledge to return it, but you leave that out of your statement," rejoined Senator McCumber.

Senator McCumber said that as Senator Fall was prescribing for the conduct of senators, he should take some of his own medicine, adding "And you will take it before you are through."

Entomologists Are Fighting Plant Diseases

Few people who are not directly interested in the subject are aware of the persistent fight being made by the State Department of Agriculture through its division of entomology to prevent the introduction and dissemination of plant diseases in Wisconsin.

Just as the state board of health watches closely for the outbreak of contagious diseases among human beings so the Department of Agriculture keeps a close watch for the appearance of the destructive diseases to which plants are subject. It is work is carried on through the whole year in a half dozen different simultaneous campaigns. As the need for it appears, quarantine is put in force, such as the one now in force against bringing into this state any white pine trees or Christmas greens from the blister infected sections of the east.

Under the same law the campaign to eradicate barberry, which acts as a carrier of the black rust plague, is being carried on. Since the campaign was inaugurated several years ago, there has been a marked decrease in the ravages of the black rust in grain. The legislature of 1919 strengthened the law which authorizes the department to fight foul brood among the bee colonies of the state. The losses to beekeepers in Wisconsin from this disease has been enormous and a vigorous enforcement of the laws will attempt to stamp out the disease.

MANAGERS FIGHT ACTORS' STRIKE TO BREAK UNION

Best Known Stars of Stage
Head Equity Association

By GEO. P. WEST
NEW YORK—The strike of actors in New York has given the public a vast amount of amusement.
But it has done more than that. It has changed very decidedly the popular estimate of stage people as a class. Within a few short weeks their self-respect and the public's respect for them has risen tremendously.

To begin with, no one ever suspected the actors of harboring any positive amount of public spirit or sense of solidarity. We had been led up for years on jokes and stories picturing the actor as a hopeless prima donna, a spoiled child, a victim of enormous vanity and conceit.
And here they are sticking together for the common welfare with a spirit that would do credit to the staunchest group of union men or league of farmers in the country.

If the strike had started with the chorus girls or the low-paid actors
no one would have been surprised.
But it started with the most popular stars on Broadway and worked down to the obscure beginners and the chorus. Men and women just entering on a successful career and enjoying the favor of managers and the public for the first time walked out with the rest. The Barrymore family, which includes Joan Drew, and the immensely popular John and Ethel, not only joined the strikers but spoke at the meetings. "Stick," was Miss Barrymore's injunction to an audience of cheering chorus girls.

Managers and unsympathetic actors who tried to tell the strikers that they were "artists" and not working people, got jeered and hissed for their pains.

The chorus went out without being asked, and a new set of grievances was added to the score. Pay for rehearsals after four weeks, and the management to pay for shoes and stockings. It seems that each girl wears out as much as $60 worth of stockings and pumps during the twelve weeks of rehearsals required for putting on a big girl and music show, and she gets no salary at all until the show opens.

What was it all about? Not wages or conditions, except indirectly. The managers had decided to break the Actors' Equity association, in existence for six years as an aggressive agency for protecting individual actors against unfair managerial practices. So they broke off negotiations over extra pay for holiday performances at a time when the actors were urging arbitration and proposing Hughes or Taft. And they made the usual charges against a union that a group of employers is fighting. Its leadership was bad.
It left them with no security against strikes. (This in the face of a strong arbitration clause that had never failed.)

The split developed on straight economic lines. Managers who had been and are still popular actors lined up with those managers who are only middlemen and promoters.
Actors like Ethel Barrymore, who has spent her whole stage life with the Frohmans, with never a dispute or an unpleasantness, went out with the rest. Dan Frohman is a member of the Managers' association, but he told Ed Wynne, a striking picket, that Miss Barrymore was doing the right thing and he didn't blame her.

For once the tory newspapers have had to go slow in taking the bosses' side, for the actors are immensely popular and everyone admires their game fight. Many are risking income that they can ill afford to lose.
Even those who get big salaries
when they play are by no means prosperous. No occupation is more hazardous. An actor who was playing the lead in one of the biggest successes in town when the strike broke, told me that he had played for twenty years at from $20 to $300 a week, and that in all that time his average was 26 weeks of paid work a year at $100 a week, or an average income of $2,600. The best part of the strike is that it was led and organized by men who don't need the Equity to get a square deal for themselves, but who resent the arbitrary and unfair attitude of some of the managers toward more helpless players.

Here is proof that one of the favorite theories of certain students of the labor movement is correct—the theory that the contest now going on all over the world is primarily a contest between the creative instinct, or the instinct of workmanship, and the possessive instinct. This strike is largely a revolt against complete control of the industry by men who know little and care little about the art of the theater, just as labor objects to control of industries by men who know nothing about the processes of production and who are not interested in them, but only in profits.

The actors' strike will have an immense influence on the attitude of various classes of white-collar employees toward unionism. The actors have been big enough to realize that the fight of the artist for freedom is the same fight as the fight of the worker. Clerks and teachers and many folk far more humble and somber than the actors have held aloof and felt themselves in a higher class because they wore white collars and received salaries instead of wages. Thousands of these people are going to take a different attitude toward organized labor now that they have seen Ethel Barrymore and Joan Drew marching under its banner. It is the very class that has exalted the actor and envied him that has been most inclined to look down on organized labor. This influence is undoubtedly being felt

Blumenfeld Heads New Organization

M. F. Blumenfeld, state purchasing agent for Wisconsin, was elected president of the National Conference of State Purchasing Agents of the United States yesterday, when the formal organization was completed. Every state and territory in the union will be represented in the conference.

Other officers elected were Secretary of State W. A. Roach of Indiana, vice chairman; Joseph M.
Coyle, purchasing agent for New Jersey, secretary; David Atwood, editor of public printing for Wisconsin, assistant secretary; and Charles Stewart, secretary of state of Montana, treasurer. On the executive committee are Mr. Blumenfeld; Thos. Hall, secretary of state of North Dakota, and J. M. Coyle of New Jersey.

right now in New York by the cigar store clerks, who are organizing and demanding the eight hour day and a minimum wage of $24 a week.

The actors' strike, like the organizing of teachers' unions, is only one more sign of the times. It won't be long, as time runs, when the men who merely exploit and manipulate will find themselves up against a solid phalanx of those who produce and serve. Today in New York the most popular serious play,

"John Ferguson," is being staged by a theater guild built on soviet lines.
Actors who ordinarily would be receiving about $80 a week are dividing $300 or $400 each week as their share of the profits. And there is no strike in that theater. The striking actors are repeating the story of the first manager, hired by bands of strutting players in the middle ages, to pass the hat during performances.

They weren't satisfied with the number of coins he came back with, and so required him to carry a live fly in his free hand. When he came back with the hat he had to hold out his hand, open it and release the fly. Even this proved unsatisfactory, and so he was required not only to carry the live fly in one hand and the hat in the other, but to pass through the audience whistling.

(By the Associated Press)
BERLIN—The Prussian government has ordered a discontinuance of the custom of hoisting flags on public buildings on the anniversary of the battle of Sedan in which Germany defeated France in 1871, lest the people regard the hoisting as a demonstration in favor of the old regime and doubt the government's determination to pursue its new policy.

LA FOLLETTE HITS MONOPOLY OF RESOURCES

Fights to Save Lands From Control of Monopolistic
Plunderers

WASHINGTON—Renewing his attack against monopolistic control of the natural resources of the country, La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, warned the senate today against undue haste in passing the pending land leasing bill and charged that the British government was behind one big oil company which was "getting a hold" in America.

Declaring the pending bill radically different from the one reported favorably last session and to which the navy department was opposed, Senator La Follette criticized the public lands committee for its failure to give that department and other parties at interest, an opportunity to be heard.

The Wisconsin senator declared that in the past there had been "A constant struggle between the pillagers, pirates and thieves and the government" over the development of timber and grazing lands in the west and that the same situation had developed over oil lands. He said he would support a measure that would provide for the government taking control over the operating "Many of the basic things necessary to the life of organized society" adding that it was beyond the power of congress or any one to restrict "The nationalization of transportation."

Renewing his plea for the government to take steps to protect its natural resources especially coal and oil for the use of its navy, Senator La Follette said the man who believed the league of nations would preserve peace was a "Superficial student of history." The development of the submarine, he said, would make it impossible to guarantee security on the ocean lanes.

Negroes and Whites Disturbed By Bombs

CHICAGO—Sixteen negro families were thrown from their beds early today by the explosion of a bomb at an apartment building on the south side and twelve white families in the same section had a similar experience. No one was seriously hurt. The bombs were thrown by men riding past in automobiles. Police attribute the explosions to labor troubles.

Milwaukee Road In On Plunder?

PORTLAND, Ore.—Charges that approximately $5,000,000 of government funds had been "squandered, misapplied and converted to the prospective uses of the Milwaukee railroad interests" were contained in a report telegraphed to Secretary Baker by the congressional committee investigating operations of the spruce production division.

Last Week's Close

CHICAGO—Foodstuffs of all kinds continued on a downward scale here today. Live hogs sold as low as $14.50 per hundred pounds and lack of buyers for thousands of hogs on the market made further declines almost certain. All grades have shown a drop of approximately 3 1/2 cents a pound since the beginning of the slump.

Cattle sales began at around $16.75 per hundred, an average of $1.50 under prices at the close of last week's trading.

The consumer will not receive the benefit of the lower figures, it was pointed out, until meat purchased during the decline is released for sale, which will be in about a week.

Ferdie Awakened And Told To Get Out of Land

PARIS (Tuesday)—When the former King Ferdinand fled from Bulgaria and took refuge in one of his castles in Austria he had to leave by order of Emperor Charles, according to the Journal Des Debats which says it received its information from an authorized source.

Count Leopold Von Berchtold (former Austrian foreign minister and a close friend of Emperor Charles), came to deliver the order, arriving at the castle at midnight. The abdicated monarch was sound asleep, but when the count entered his bedroom, thrust his head from the bedclothes and seated himself on the bed. His nightgown was of mauve and heavily embroidered. He wore gold bracelets on his arms and rings with rubies and other precious stones on every finger.

When he understood what was wanted, he cried: "It is infamy—treachery."

Affirming that he had always sacrificed himself for Austria, he set for his son, Prince Cyrille, to testify to his noble sentiments. When the prince arrived Ferdinand cried: "Kiki, swear that your father was never a traitor." The son, hardly awake, failed to grasp the situation and remained silent, whereupon his father burst out: "Get out. You're only an idiot. Kiki, you understand nothing. Send for my faithful general."

This general proved to be a Bulgarian who spoke only his native language. A triangular conversation followed, the former king translating Count Von Berchtold's German into Bulgarian and the general's Bulgarian into German.

Despite Ferdinand's plea that "Now you have a witness that I never was a traitor," Count Von Berchtold reiterated the order, making Ferdinand understand that his life was in danger if he remained. This argument convinced the former monarch and within a few minutes an automobile carried off into the darkness Ferdinand, Kiki, the general and the millions Ferdinand had succeeded in bringing with him.

"I AM HAPPIEST WOMAN IN THE WHOLE STATE"

This is What Mrs. Marzahn Says—Gains Twenty-Three Pounds

"I am the happiest woman in the state of Illinois, and it is all because Tanlac has completely overcome my troubles and added just 23 pounds to my weight," said Mrs. E. Marzahn, who lives at Hanna City, Ill., R. F. D. No. 1, while in Sudliff & Case's Drug Store in Peoria the other day. "I suffered a complete breakdown in health about 14 years ago," continued Mrs. Marzahn, "and for the past five years, I was in such a weak, run down condition that I could hardly walk across the floor, and it had been at least five years since I could pick up a broom and do a little sweeping. I was so nervous that the least little noise would upset me, and such a thing as a night's sleep was out of the question. My stomach was in terrible condition, too, and everything I ate disgusted with me. I would often have racing headaches that would almost drive me frantic with pain, and would get so dizzy at times I could hardly stand on my feet. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for medicine, and at different times I was under special treatment, but instead of getting any relief from my suffering I just kept on going down hill all the time. In fact, I was so blue and despondent that I had just given up all hope of ever finding a medicine or treatment that would do me any good."

"That was the condition I was in when a neighbor of mine came in one day and talked to me about Tanlac, and insisted that I give it a trial. Well, I finally consented, and my husband went out and bought three bottles of Tanlac, and told me to give it a fair trial, and not to think of stopping until I had used all three of these bottles. Now, let me tell you right here that the wonderful improvement that three bottles of Tanlac made in my condition, is simply beyond description. Then, of course, we got more of it, and I continued to take Tanlac and kept on improving until I am now as well and strong as I ever was in my life. Why, everybody in this part of the country who knows me is talking about the great change that has taken place in my condition since I began taking Tanlac. In fact, I am enjoying perfect health in every way, and do all my housework with perfect ease. I can get out and go where I please now, and life is really worth living again. I tell everybody I meet about Tanlac, and as long as I live I will praise it for the good it has done me."

AT THE THEATRES

NEW STRAND.
If you want to see the unconditional surrender of a certain man-haters' club and the sensational capture of its leader and members by Cupid and his agents, see Marguerite Clark, dainty little Paramount star, and the supporting cast in her new picture, "Girls," which will be shown at the New Strand theater today and tomorrow.

The program also includes, The Literary Digest, Topics of the Day, The Bray Pictograph, and the latest News Weekly.

THE GRAND.
Press dispatches in yesterday's papers would indicate that the United States is fully determined to end for all time the massacre of the helpless Armenians by the murderous Turks. "The Auction of Souls," the picture now showing at the Grand, depicts in a small measure, the Turkish treatment of the Armenians, and more especially their treatment of the unfortunate girls and women. Two Armenians, students in Madison, saw the pictures last night, and when asked if the scenes shown in the pictures were in any way exaggerated, stated that the conditions depicted were not a circumstance to the actual happenings. One of the men said that his father and mother and two brothers had been killed and that he dreaded to think of the fate of his three sisters, although he was fully convinced that all were dead. He further stated that if the United States would equip an army of 10,000 men and send to Armenia that 10,000 Armenians in this country would volunteer to go in American uniforms, that it would be unnecessary for a single American boy to go, and that this army of 10,000 would restore Armenia to its people and would defend it from the Turks. There is no question but that Armenia will have the heartfelt sympathy of all who see "The Auction of Souls."

ORPHEUM.
The half holiday was pleasantly rounded out by the many people who filled the Orpheum theatre last night to capacity at both shows.

The quaint, throbbing melodies, beautifully played by the Menning sisters were enthusiastically received.

"Ginger and Joy," enacted by Harper and Blanks, is a good case of educated feet. Real rapid fire jingling and clever dancing.

Claiming to be an exhibition of an experiment in mental telepathy by the leader George Lovett, five blind-folded musicians jazzed and ragged to never ending encores. The audience was invited to suggest melodies. He in turn conveyed the information to the musicians by mental suggestion. The name of the tune requested would be announced by the pianist following which it would be rendered. Madam Zenda, another feature of the act, answered queries from written notes by the audience, without examining the papers.

Parodizing popular melodies,

Acid-Stomach Ruins Health of Millions

Besides those painful attacks of indigestion; that awful bloated, lumpy feeling after eating and downright stomach misery that you who have experienced it know so well; besides disgusting belching, food-repeating, sour stomach and distressing heartburn—besides all this, ACID-STOMACH undermines the health and saps the strength of millions.

If you don't get rid of those stomach miseries there is no telling where your stomach troubles will end, for it is a well known scientific fact that many serious ailments have their start in an acid-stomach.

Start now—this very day—to get rid of your stomach miseries. Take EATONIC—the wonderful remedy that absorbs the excess acid from the stomach and brings INSTANT relief. You simply have no idea how much better, stronger and brighter you feel at once. It drives out all the gas and bloating, puts an immediate stop to belching and heartburn, ends stomach suffering and makes it cool, sweet, comfortable and strong. There can be no further excuse for you to allow acid-stomach to wreck your health—pile up misery upon misery until you get to the point where you feel down and out and that life has lost all its joys. Remember, just as acid-month ruins teeth, so acid-stomach ruins health.

Take EATONIC. It's good, just like a bit of candy and makes the stomach feel fine. You can then eat the things you like and, what is more, every mouthful you eat will count in creating power and energy. You'll feel so much better—have punch and pep—the power and will to do things and get results, and your stomach misery will be gone.

Take our advice. Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. It costs so little. If it fails to remove your stomach distress, he will refund your money. That is guaranteed; you are to be satisfied or money refunded.

STOCK PRICES STILL TUMBLING

Grain Market Follows Down Steep Decline

CHICAGO—Live hog prices which continued to decline, were again the controlling factors on the board of trade today, in the grain and provisions market, and their weakness was reflected in lower prices for cereals and meat products. Distinct corn deliveries started 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower and Sept. opened unchanged to 1/4 lower. Intermittent prices were Sept. 1.74 to 1.75 and Dec. 1.36 to 1.37. Early offerings were quickly absorbed and prices recovered. The rallies brought out selling offers and prices fell away to from 1c to 3c lower than yesterday's closing point.

Oats moved in sympathy with corn and were affected by the same conditions. Opening prices were 1/2 higher to 1/2 lower. Increasing of ferings was followed by a sag in prices, the drop being less pronounced than in corn but still carrying values well below the opening points. Sept. started at 69 1/2 and Dec. at 72 1/2 to 73 1/2.

Provisions started with a decline of 2 1/2c in pork and lard with ribs 10c off. The early trading resulted in further recessions, pork declining to 50c lower than the close yesterday.

One of the Hits

Major R. H. Hendershot Rappan-nock drummer boy who enlisted in 1861 at the age of 10 and who uses a drum personally presented to him by General Winfield Scott on behalf of Horace Greeley for bravery at Fredericksburg on Dec. 11, 12, and 13, made a hit with the thousands of Dane county fair patrons who were entertained by him, and his son, who plays the fife, ocarina, and piccolo.

Major Hendershot and his son have been traveling the last 30 years, he declares, in every part of the world, in every state of the union, in Honolulu, and in Europe and their repertoire contains over 200 pieces, many of which Major Hendershot has composed himself.

IMPRESSIONS OF WISCONSIN
Your homes are alight with the holly of love
In this Garden of Eden, Dane county;
You bask in the smiles of heaven above
That's just what you do in Dane county.
Your grain waves billows of gold in the sun,
And the fruits of your orchards are equalled by none;
You should challenge the world in Dane county.

Your girls are sweet models of maidenly grace,
That's just what they are in Dane county;
They are beautiful in figure and lovely in face
They cannot be beat, in Dane County.
Their smiles are bewitching and winning and sweet
Their dresses are stylish, yet modish and neat;
A "twitby" would envy their cute, little meet
In this Garden of Eden, Dane county.

There never was a state more fair than beautiful, peerless Wisconsin;
There's life in the kiss of her rare, fine air,
Wisconsin, prolific Wisconsin.
Her sons are all valiant and brave and bright,
And her beautiful daughters are all just about right
And her babies, God bless them,
They are all sweet and bright,
That crop never fails in Wisconsin!

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

When one stops to consider the host of thin people who are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of ugly hollows, the rounding off of protruding angles with the attendant bloom of health and attractiveness, it is no wonder that many and varied suggestions along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals it is a well-known fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments on humans and animals by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorus becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor in his book, "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1918, says: "It is estimated that the amount of phosphorus required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underestimated in many of our standard text books."

It seems to be well established, that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of an organic phosphate known throughout English speaking countries as Bitro-Phosphate. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphoric content when absorbed in the amount normally required by nature soon produces a welcome change in our body and mind. Nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy, and the whole body soon loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing. It is sold by C. H. Nafiz in Madison and all good druggists.

CAUTION—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Adv.

The Dream of a Greater Madison

Part III—The Mayor's Inaugural Address.

"Gentlemen of the Council and Fellow Citizens:—I want to thank you for the honor you have bestowed upon me and I wish to promise you that with your help and good will, I will leave no stone unturned to make this city not only a greater but a better and cheaper place to live in.

I feel that I owe you an apology for not arriving on scheduled time, but was delayed somewhat by an address of welcome that I delivered before a convention of laboring men; and one of the statements that I made to them I wish to repeat at this time. I told them that I understood that it was customary of my predecessors in office on an occasion of this kind to turn the key of the city over to them—but from now on and while I am mayor of this city we will dispense with the use of this key and remain open day and night and will gladly welcome anyone and only ask in return that they be law-abiding citizens and if they can see their way clear, to become one of us.

Any city without this spirit cannot prosper. I must also confess to you there were several times in my life that I doubted very much that a young man born of humble parents could attain an office of this kind. But this day has shown me very clearly that any young man by working hard and living a clean life can obtain the highest office within the gift of the American people. Cities to become great must treat all its people on an equal basis and gladly welcome constructive criticism.

Citizens, your city calls out loudly to you today. She tells you that you have within your grasp the making of a great city. Are you going to ignore the call? We who have neglected to give it proper care for so many years are suddenly awakened from our slumbers and for that reason we have gathered here today to answer that call, and I only need to look into your faces to learn your answer.

It makes us almost blush with shame when we think of what Nature has done for us in the way of beauty; we then add to that our magnificent capitol building and our great university furnished us by our state and with only one exception through the efforts of a few men, they having enabled us to secure our beautiful parks and drives, we have done very little to make this a greater city.

Let us from today on use greater energy and the right spirit to build up our city, not as individuals but as a united people.

For that reason I have outlined a plan which in my estimation must be followed to make this a Greater Madison.

IF ONLY THE REAL STORY—

ON NEXT Tuesday the people of Wisconsin will have an opportunity to show their loyalty to the soldier boys from this state. To the number of 101,696 these boys left their vocations and went to the defense of their country. They should have been paid more for their services as soldiers. That is to be regretted. But the time has come when folks at home can show the boys how their services have been appreciated by voting for the bonus.

The people of Wisconsin can never repay the boys for their brave acts of heroism. There rests on the desk at the executive office, awaiting the state printer, the story of the thirty-second division, commanded by General Haan. It is too bad that this simple story, that is soon to be issued by the Wisconsin History commission, is not in the hands of every voter of the state for Sunday reading. It is no dry recounting of names. It is the story of an advance in the face of resistance that will forever make glorious the record of the Wisconsin National Guard, which composed a part of the thirty-second division. If the people of Wisconsin could pass before them the cold record as recounted in that official document they would not be a community in Wisconsin but would have its majority.

The election should never have been had. The legislature of Wisconsin, having at its command full knowledge of the resources of the state should never have faltered; should never have played the political trick of sending this matter to the people for their approval. It would never have gone to the people had it not been for Gov. Philipp. Two years ago he was against the referendum. Now he is for it. Here are the governor's words when he vetoed a referendum bill two years ago:

"I still firmly maintain that this is a representative form of government and those who are elected to represent the people in the legislature should legislate for them, rather than to pass that duty to the people themselves."

Strange! Isn't it?

The soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses from Wisconsin asked for no referendum on their going. It was service to the state and nation that stood before them. And they did not falter.

At the ballot box on Tuesday the profiteer who sees that the soldier who would be given some financial recompense at his expense will do his best to beat it. It was the push of the profiteer; a flood of letters to the legislature, that aided in sending the bill to the people.

No better rebuke can now be given this ilk than a vote that will be so large in favor of the bonus that it will be staggering. Lincoln's plain people should make a real inning at the ballot box.

Let the word go out to the nation when the ballots are counted Tuesday night that Wisconsin crowned the bravery of her sons and daughters in the service by a vote of gratitude that was overwhelming.

In the years to come this vote of tribute will far outweigh any financial sacrifices made.

WAITING FOR RESULTS

IT IS results that count in a campaign against the wolves who are keeping up the high cost of living. For a month passed the newspapers of America have been crowded with statements, by this official and that, as to what was to be done.

When you pay your week's grocery bill Saturday night look over the items and see how much has been accomplished. Or have we just been subjected to a wind storm that has left the big profiteering trees still standing,—not a leaf disturbed?

WELCOME, MR. NORDMAN

THERE has always been a complaint among the farmers of the state that they have never been appropriately recognized in the service of the state. There has been some truth in the complaint. The advisory market commission board, however, has selected a farmer for the position of marketing director—a farmer who in a life of toil has blazed his 60 acres of cleared land out of the north Wisconsin wilderness.

Hard work has taught many a man a sober lesson. It was Thomas Jefferson, who said that there was less frivolity, less of the narrowness of life among the farmers of the nation than any other class. Ed Nordman of Polar, who has just been chosen market director, is one of those sturdy farmers. He has always been progressive. Party lines have meant nothing to him when principle was at stake. When the news went forth that Nordman had been chosen, a man in the legislature who had long opposed many of Nordman's farmer plans, declared that he was satisfied that the board had selected an honest man,—a man who will do his duty. Such is the tribute of his political enemies.

That honesty and that sobered intelligence will guide the

La Follette: The Fickleness of Political Fortune

By JAMES M. PIERCE

[Editor of The Wisconsin Farmer]

THAT "time changes all things" was an old proverb with the Romans, but I doubt if they ever had a more striking example of the ups and downs of political fortune in the old Roman senate than the United States senate presents today. In the case of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. Only a year or two ago the case of Senator La Follette was being denounced by republicans and democrats alike; Senator La Follette was going up the demand that he be expelled from the United States Senate; he was called disloyal and pro-German, and a committee was appointed in the senate which it was generally expected would recommend that he be ousted from his seat. But today he is the most powerful and most respected member of that body. His support is sought by the leaders of both parties; he is consulted and his views listened to with respect by them. And why this sudden change from abuse to respect, from curses almost to flattery? Is it because Senator La Follette has altered his views, or because he has retracted anything he said? No, it is not that it is any different—it is the political situation in the senate which has changed.

Two years ago the democratic party had a good working majority in the senate. The republicans were powerless. Senator La Follette was known as an independent voter, who refused to be bound by party ties or caucuses. But his vote was not needed by the democrats and it was of no help to the republicans. But today all that is changed. The republican party has a nominal majority of just two in the senate, including Senator Newberry of Michigan, whose election is contested because of the staggering sums which he spent to secure his election. Even if Senator Newberry retains his seat, the republicans need Senator La Follette's vote to avoid a tie, and without Senator Newberry the party needs the Wisconsin senator to avoid giving the democrats a majority. On the other hand the only hope of the democratic party in breaking the republican majority is to secure Senator La Follette's aid, as they know he is the most independent member of the majority. In other words Senator La Follette holds the balance of power in the senate, and hence is the most influential and most sought senator with both parties.

The only instance I know of which compares with this sudden change in attitude towards Senator La Follette is the case of Lloyd George, prime minister of England. The reversal of sentiment in his case was a little more slow in coming and not quite so dramatic in its details, but it was the same change from popular hatred and contempt almost to worship, in a few short years. During the Boer War, some years ago, Lloyd George was mobbed, stoned, and rotten-egged by gatherings throughout England, which he attempted to address. It was charged that he was disloyal and traitorous, because he opposed England's war against the Boers. Today it is generally conceded that he was right, and he was the man of the hour to whom England turned to direct her destinies in the world war and to save her from destruction. Incidentally one of his right hand men, in the conduct of the late war, was General Jan Smuts, who was one of the principal leaders of the Boers in their war against England.

During the war I had occasion, as a member of the principal war organization in a grain belt state, to vote against the passage of a resolution calling upon the United States Senate to expel Senator La Follette. In so doing I did not attempt to defend Senator La Follette's views on the war, with some of which I did not agree. Neither did I contend that he had always acted discreetly and spoken wisely. But I knew that the men who were demanding his removal were opposed to him, not so much because of his attitude on the war, as for the policies which he advocated before the war, as a progressive senator and a terror to corrupt big business. I felt instinctively that the time would come again when the farmers of the United States would have need for as staunch a defender of their rights in the United States Senate as "Fighting Bob" La Follette. Today many of those who were cursing him most bitterly and crying for his blood are fawning upon him, in the hope that he may "stick by the party." The charges they made against him then are forgotten, now that he can be of aid to them; all the sins they laid at his door are forgiven, if he will only be good and help them out. All of which, I maintain, justifies the view which I held, that regardless of what he may have said or done during the war, the real animus behind the attacks against him were prompted chiefly by his well known economic and political views before the war. The whirligig of politics sees some remarkable changes, but none more remarkable than that which, in the short space of two years, has changed Senator La Follette from one despised of men to a position of influential leadership and acknowledged power, in the assembly that likes to refer to itself as "the greatest deliberative body in the world."

Fabled City of Aztalan To Be Scene of Meeting

A joint meeting of the Wisconsin Historical society and the Wisconsin Archeological society will be held at Aztalan on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 1, to explain the discoveries that have been made in the scientific investigation that has been carried on there during the past two months.

The Indian earth works at Aztalan have attracted national attention. Three miles from Lake Mills, on the banks of the Crawfish river, an exploration party, under the auspices of the Milwaukee museum, is making extensive investigations of the mounds of the fabled city of Aztalan. People from Milwaukee, Portage, La Crosse, Janesville, Beloit, and many nearby places have sent word to M. M. Quaife, secretary of the state historical society, that they expect to attend the labor day meeting. A large delegation will go from Madison.

The fabled city of Aztalan was first discovered in 1836 and surveyed in 1837 by N. F. Hyer, who published an account of them in the Milwaukee Advertiser, then the only newspaper published in Wisconsin. The city was named Aztalan by Mr. Hyer, because, according to Humboldt, the Aztecs had a tradition that their ancestors came from the north, and the possibility that the newly discovered remains might have been built by them, suggested the name.

When the first survey was made and the enclosure covered about eighteen acres. The remains of the city were enclosed in a wall of earth and bricks which had been crudely made by the mixing of grass and clay still abundant in the region. The wall extended around three sides of an irregular parallelogram with the Crawfish river making the fourth side. When this ridge was surveyed by Increase Lapham in 1850 was 631 feet long on the north, 1,419 feet on the west and 705 feet on the south side, making the total length of the wall, 2,750 feet. The wall was from one to five feet high.

It is now the general opinion that this was a mecca for religious ceremonies. Some years ago J. C. Bratton, of the modern village of Aztalan, made excavations there and found what appeared to be the remains of a piece of cloth. The threads had so decayed that it was impossible to determine its nature.

"The mounds on which these religious demonstrations were supposed to have taken place," says a recent writer, "are on the inner side of the wall of the city. They have been excavated and the charred remains of human bones, mixed with pieces of wood and clay, have been found and it had led to the supposition that they were the places of human sacrifices as is their use in Mexico and among the southern mound builders. Fragments of pottery have been found in the mounds, and archaeologists have expressed the opinion that the aborigines who built the city of Aztalan had reached a point of civilization where they had begun to have a conception of the rudiments of architecture as shown by their knowledge in laying out their city."

According to Lapham, the only earth works resembling the mounds at Aztalan is that of Toulon, Mexico. This is an enclosure of about the same dimensions bounded on the east by the sea. It consists of a loose stone wall with two watch towers on the sands, corresponding to the two large pyramidal mounds at Aztalan.

The farmer boys were having lots of fun Wednesday with "Kid" Hanson, the champion wrestler who guaranteed to throw anybody inside of seven minutes or forfeit $1. The farmer boy champion wrestler, Steve Trenner, Brooklyn, stuck with him for the limit twice in succession and "Kid" Hanson came in for a lot of "kidding."

Charles Koehler, Reading, Pa., fell from midair while attempting a triple twist, the finale of the trapeze act of the Duffin and Red McCoy troupe on the platform before the grand stand Wednesday and dislocated his arm in two places. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital and, it was reported, that he expected to be back in the act today. A little thing like a broken arm or so doesn't seem to bother these actors.
